Did you know?

Before the end of World War II, Shard End was completely rural with the only buildings being farmhouses, farm outbuildings and tithe cottages. Shard End was once part of the Manor of Castle Bromwich while Firs Hall once stood on the Firs Housing Estate.

After the 1939-45 War Shard End Estate was built following compulsory purchase orders being made. All that remains of its past are a few cottages in Packington Avenue and School Lane.
